

WHAT DO WE OFFER?

Specifically, 45-60 minute audio and video* presentations or lectures on a wide range of entertainment topics with an emphasis on nostalgia and audience participation - designed to be interactive and mentally stimulating.

Many of the presentations are ideally suited for holiday period usage: Memorial Day, Dec. 7th, Armistice Day, D-Day, July 4th, Mother's Day, Flag Day, Valentine's Day, etc.

These, of course can be tailored to your specific community needs, interests, time allowance, etc.

The communities vary from cruises, libraries, senior residences, clubs, theatres, or anywhere the fans of the music, movies and performers of yesteryear gather.

"Most of his presentations highlight the GREAT AMERICAN SONGBOOK from the golden era of song-making, when Frank Sinatra, Ella Fitzgerald and Nat "King" Cole were in their prime." Cruise Publication

“Presentations include excerpts of original recordings, illustrated with photos via 400+ Power point pages all produced by Rick. The average presentation takes a minimum of 80 hours to produce.

The presenter is a former broadcast executive, radio disk jockey, television presenter and international cruise entertainer. He works without a script and involves the audience in his detailed stories. Rick includes anecdotes of the many stars he worked with, or met in his 45 year broadcast career including Bob Hope, Cary Grant, Rosemary Clooney, Frank Sinatra, John Denver, Miss Piggy, etc.

Audience response has been exceptional. He has appeared at many senior facilities and clubs a dozen times or more, At public venues such as libraries, he has a growing fan base that travel from one to the other.

He recently started his own internet radio series, “The Great American Songbook” and writes a column (blog) for Examiner.com about Swing and Big Bands. He also has several videos from shipboard lectures on YouTube.”
